DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's Amendment filed May 25, 2009 has been received and entered into present application. Claims 17 and 22 were canceled. claims 4-6, 21, and 23-26 are currently pending examination.

Applicants' arguments, filed May 25, 2009, have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive. Rejections and/or objections not reiterated from previous office actions are hereby withdrawn. The following rejections and/or objections are either reiterated or newly applied. They constitute the complete set presently being applied to the instant application.

Allowable Subject Matter

The amendment submitted May 25, 2009 has overcome all of the rejections of record for claims 4-6 and 21 and has made the changes proposed by the examiner's amendment. Thus these claims are deemed allowable.

Claims 4-6 and 21 are allowed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 23-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Applicant has amended claim 23 to include "treatment of prostate cancer or uterine cervical cancer" but applicant has no support for the addition of "uterine cervical cancer". Applicant mentions treatment of cervical cancer and mentions treatment of uterine cancer but never discloses treatment of uterine cervical cancer. Applicant lacks support to create a specific subset of cancers to treat that includes only prostate cancer and uterine cervical cancer. This addition of "uterine cervical cancer" is new matter and thus claims 23-26 are rejected for lacking written description of the invention.

This new rejection is necessitated by amendment to the claims.

Claims 23-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for treatment of prostate cancer, does not reasonably provide enablement for treatment of uterine cervical cancer. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

Applicant has not shown their invention such that one of skill in the art at the time of the invention could use the claimed compounds to treat uterine cervical cancer. In fact applicant has not provided any direction towards treatment of uterine cancer or treatment of cervical cancer or treatment of uterine cervical cancer. One of skill in the art at the time of the invention would not be able to use the direction provided towards treatment of prostate cancer and apply it to treatment of uterine cervical cancer.

Factors to be considered in determining whether a disclosure would require undue experimentation have been summarized in Ex parte Forman, 230 USPQ 546 (BPAI 1986) and reiterated by the Court of Appeals in In re Wands, 8 USPQ2d 1400 at 1404 (CAFC 1988). The factors to be considered in determining whether undue experimentation is required include: (1) the quantity of experimentation necessary, (2) the amount of direction presented, (3) the presence or absence of working examples, (4) the nature of the invention, (5) the state of the prior art, (6) the relative skill of those in the art, (7) the predictability or unpredictability of the art, and (8) the breadth of the claims.

The amount of experimentation necessary is undue (1) due to the lack of direction or examples directed towards uterine or cervical or uterine cervical cancer (2, 3). The nature of the invention is treatment of a complex cancer (4) and the state of the prior art is such that these compounds are not known and thus the mechanism of action is unknown (5). The skill of those in the art is high (6) however the unpredictability of treatments such as those for uterine cervical cancer is also high (7). The breadth of the claims is large due to the large number of compounds encompassed by the claims (8).

The examiner previously indicated that the claims were enabled for prostate cancer and applicant has amended the claims to include both prostate cancer and uterine cervical cancer. Applicant states that "support for these specific cancers is found throughout the specification" and makes no arguments towards the enablement of uterine cervical cancer.

This new rejection is necessitated by amendment to the claims.

Conclusion

New rejections of claims 23-26 is necessitated by amendment to the claims Claims 4-6 and 21 are allowed.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
